

U.S., Canada Agree Castro Rule a Threat

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
OTTAWA, Ont. (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker agreed today that the Castro dictatorship in Cuba threatens both "the peaceful and democratic evolution" of Latin America.

In a communique issued before Kennedy headed back to Washington, the U.S. and Canadian leaders also said effective control machinery will be essential to achieve peace and stability in Laos and the rest of Southeast Asia.

Kennedy and Diefenbaker concluded the survey of their two-day conversations with this broad statement of common aims: "To banish the scourge of war, to improve the human lot, to defend and to enlarge the area of freedom, to assist peoples less privileged than our own — these are aims that bind together Canada and the United States and which, with other allies and friends, our two countries will, jointly and steadfastly, pursue."

Kennedy ended his first state visit on a note of warning for Red aggressors and of challenge to the North Atlantic allies to strengthen the security of the free world. He had held out those objectives in a speech to Parliament Wednesday.

In that same address he called for Canada to step up its contributions to the welfare of underdeveloped Latin-American nations and join the Organization of American States.

The communique made no direct reference to this appeal. It said Kennedy and Diefenbaker discussed the need for accelerating economic progress and social reform as well as strengthening the Western Hemisphere trend away from dictatorship and toward democracy. These objectives are closely related, it added.

"They were in accord that the alignment of a regime in the Western Hemisphere with Communist leadership abroad was a matter for serious concern, threatening as it did the peaceful and democratic evolution of the Latin American peoples," it said.

Diefenbaker assured Kennedy of Canada's "continued and increasing interest in inter-American affairs."

The statement referring to Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro was something Kennedy had sought in his trip to Ottawa—his first outside the United States since his inauguration. Canada previously had exhibited less concern than the United States over the potential menace, of Castro's link with the Soviet Union, to the entire Western Hemisphere.

As to the call to strengthen the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's conventional and nuclear power, the two leaders said: "It is more than ever necessary that the strength and unity of NATO be reinforced."

They omitted any mention of specific increases by Canada or other NATO governments to the alliance's defense forces, but did assert that a strong defense must be maintained until "effective disarmament measures can be secured under proper safeguards."

Kennedy and Diefenbaker reaffirmed their desire for negotiating at Geneva "a truly independent and neutral Laos." Both Canada and the United States are participating in the Laos conference at Geneva, and Canada is a member of the three-nation commission assigned to supervise a cease-fire between Communists and royalists in Laos itself.

Diefenbaker and Kennedy agreed that effective control machinery represents "a key element in a settlement of the Laos situation and an essential ingredient in achieving peace and stability in Southeast Asia."

On other points the two leaders: Re-stated their confidence in the United Nations, declared the negotiation of a nuclear test ban treaty with effective measures for inspection was a basic step toward disarmament, agreed that such projects as the organization for economic cooperation and development and the development assistance group would enable the two countries to coordinate their policies of aid to underdeveloped nations, and emphasized their interest in promoting employment and expanding world trade.

In his address to Parliament

Boy Scout Troop 91 had an election for induction into "Order of Arrow" and two boys will be initiated into the group at Camp Pioneer on June 16. The group will learn which two on that date. The election was conducted by Bob Trout, Johnny Schooley, Pat Schooley and Tommy Bright.

Operation Springtime Closed Thursday With Awarding of $50 Prizes to Three Winners

"Operation Springtime" officially closed Thursday morning with the presentation of ward prizes of $50 savings bond to three winners by representatives of the Hope Kiwanis, Lions, Jaycees, and Rotary Clubs.

The Chamber of Commerce presented a plaque to A. W. "Buddy" McIver, Worshipful Master of Whitfield Masonic Lodge No. 239, as most outstanding improvement in commercial property.

"Operation Springtime," a program of civic improvement based on civic pride, was designed to promote clean-up, paint-up, fix-up, and plant-up projects in the city—both for residential and commercial property. A basically simple plan, participants were invited to enter competition for prizes if they intended to do any "spring cleaning" and repairing.

Judges then gave the entrants "before" scores; and six weeks later, after the work was done, an "after" score. The entrants in each ward showing the largest total point gain were winners in their ward. In Ward No. 1, three entrants signed up; but no improvement work was done, so there was no point gain and no prize awarded.

Winners are: Ward 2—Charles Gough, 1202 West 7th. "Before" points 600; "After" points 690. Total points gained 90.

Ward 3—Fred A. Camp, 1002 West Avenue B. "Before" points 575; "After" points 715. Total points gained 140.

Ward 4—James A. Puryear, 114 North Walnut. "Before" points 520; "After" points 570. Total points gained 50.

A "perfect" piece of property would receive a total of 1,000 points. 300 points were allowed in each of these categories: paint-up, fix-up, plantup, and 100 points in clean-up.

Sponsors of "Operation Springtime" noted many homes and business properties being improved, even though not entered in competition, and are hopeful that next year more Hope citizens will compete for the ward prizes.

The highway approach crepe myrtle planting by a joint effort of the Hope Council of Garden Clubs and Jaycees, the Jaycees house painting project, and overall community interest in beautifying and improving properties within the city have been the results of civic pride brought into focus by "Operation Springtime."

Cities to Hire Own Expert in Gas Rate Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Public Service Commission apparently will have two expert opinions on which to base a decision in an Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. rate case.

Pine Bluff, El Dorado and other cities protesting the 70-cent a month boost in Arkla's minimum bill plan to hire a utility expert to study the company's rate structure. Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Tuesday that the PSC also will retain James M. Honaker of Frankfort, Ky., for a rate investigation.

Pine Bluff City Atty. George Holmes said Wednesday the cities might name their expert next week. He said the cities don't want to be bound by Honaker's findings.

Passage of Education Bill Seen

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Defeat of attempts to amend the federal aid to education bill in the U.S. Senate lead state Education Commissioner Arch Ford to believe the bill will pass.

Ford said today he has asked all members of the Arkansas House delegation to support the measure when it comes to a vote there. He did not contact senators because he believes the bill will pass in the Senate, but he was concerned that crippling amendments might be added.

"Any attempt to amend the bill is an attempt to kill it," Ford said. Ford feels elimination of religious and racial issues from the bill was wise. Some congressmen wanted the aid to go parochial as well as public schools and others wanted to bar grants to states which practice school segregation.

The bill now pending in both houses does not cover parochial schools and has no segregation prohibition.

Ford feels it has an even chance to pass.

"I've contacted the congressmen and I've urged Arkansas school people who believe in federal aid, as I have for 45 years, to work in support of the bill," Ford said.

"With a minimum of 70 per cent of every tax dollar going to Washington, it is unrealistic not to receive some back for education," Ford said.

Ford said Sen. J. W. Fulbright, in a speech for the bill, noted that Arkansas does not have a sufficient tax base to support a fully adequate educational program.

"I concur wholeheartedly with the senator's view of the fiscal situation in Arkansas," Ford said.

Ford said Arkansas will get an estimated $13 million a year under the bill. The 1961 legislature made a contingent appropriation so the Education Department can use the federal money if it becomes available July 1.

The money could be used either for teachers' salaries, construction or both. Each state would determine what it wants to spend its money for.

Rural Mail Box Program Underway

The annual rural mail box improvement program—to assist the Postal Service in providing more efficient deliveries and to stimulate efforts to improve the appearance of the countryside—will be held through May 20, the Post Office Department announced today.

The program is to encourage patrons to provide suitable mail receptacles erected and maintained for easy and safe accessibility, presenting a neat appearance, and affording protection to the mail.

The Post Office Department listed these suggestions for rural mail box improvement:

Boxes that are not properly erected, or not maintained in good serviceable condition retard the delivery of mail and expose it to the weather.

Boxes which are no longer serviceable should be replaced.
 Name of box owner should be inscribed on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches, or on the door if boxes are grouped.

Boxes and supports should be kept painted preferably white, but other colors may be used.
 Mail boxes on rural and star routes must be located on the right side of the road in the direction of travel of the carriers in all cases where traffic conditions are such that it would be dangerous for the carriers to drive to the left in order to serve the boxes, or where their doing so would constitute a violation of State or local traffic laws and regulations. The approaches to boxes should be filled and properly graded and unobstructed at all times.

Hospital Okays Sale of Land

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The State Hospital Board today accepted an offer of $211,925 from Saline County businessmen for 1,624 acres of surplus land at the hospital's Beaton unit.

The businessmen want the land for industrial development. Its purchase must be approved by Saline County voters and bonds will have to be issued to finance the purchase.

The amount was set by an appraisal committee set up by the 1961 legislature.

The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission once had the land for possible industrial use, but returned it to the State Hospital earlier this year when it was unable to find an industrial tenant.

Nehru Meets Johnson at the Airport

By HENRY BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI, India (AP) —

Prime Minister Nehru, in a break with protocol, went to the airport today to greet U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson on his arrival for talks about Western aid for India's multimillion-dollar development plans.

The Indian leader was to have received President Kennedy's touring emissary at his downtown office but he made an unscheduled appearance among the welcomers as a special show of courtesy.

For Johnson, India is the first Asian nation without military bonds with the United States that he has visited since leaving Washington nine days ago.

Johnson said the United States is greatly interested in development of India along her chosen path of democratic progress and indicated Washington respects Nehru's desire to remain neutral between the world's power blocs.

Johnson told a small crowd of officials and foreign diplomats in an arrival speech that the United States and India have not always seen eye-to-eye on world problems.

But he declared the two nations are heading in the same direction and "I believe we have the same objectives."

Johnson flew from Bangkok, Thailand, where he discussed joint defense plans with Thai leaders and signed a statement of mutual determination to resist Communist pressure in Southeast Asia.

Earlier in his tour Johnson conferred with heads of government in South Viet Nam, the Philippines and Nationalist China—all of which the United States is committed to defend either through the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization or separate agreements.

Most of the three-day visit in India will center on the big subcontinent's economic growth, to which Washington has contributed $3.84 billion in aid thus far.

 as' participation in the federal old age medical care program is ficials of the state Welfare Department and the federal Health, ment's regional office at Dallas.

Latest estimates indicate the state will have $1.3 million for the program, making it eligible for $4.8 in federal funds.

Robert Rash Explains S.S. Benefits to Rotary Club

The regular Tuesday luncheon of the Rotary Club was held in the dining room of the Lee Hotel.
 Freeman Ligon gave the invitation. President Oates stated that he had not received any applications from the high schools over the county to enter the contest for queen of the Arkansas Valley
 Chick meeting at Clarksville, Ark. The club has one application from Prescott.

The program was in charge of R. P. Hamby. He introduced his guest speaker, Robert Rash, representative of the Social Security Board in Texarkana. Mr.
 Hamby and Mr. Rash exchanged some witty jabs at each other before he began the subject of his talk. The talk was based to a greater extent on disability benefits from Social Security. Mr.
 Rash stated there was no age limit on making application for this benefit. Certain physical requirements have to be met and a certain time has to elapse after total disability before the claim is approved.

Mr. Rash explained many questions concerning the requirement of social security. He gave the approximate number of people and the total amount they receive in Nevada County. It is by far the largest pay roll in the county. His talk is on a subject that most people want to know about and is always interesting.

Lookouts Get Victory Over the Travelers

By ROSS M. HAGEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Shreveport right-hander Dan Pfister apparently has regained the touch which made him one of the most effective pitchers in the Southern Association last year.

Saddled with a 1-4 record going into Wednesday night's game against Nashville, Pfister tamed the home-standing Vols on only four hits and Shreveport won 5-2.
 The lean hurler aided his own cause by hanging a run-producing double.

Chattanooga took over sole possession of first place in league standings by dumping Little Rock 5-3 while Atlanta blanked Birmingham 5-0. Mobile defeated Memphis 7-4 to take a 2-1 lead in their series.

Oranges and grapefruit are outstanding buys at fruit counters, although the good buy rating also takes in watermelons, honeydew melons, strawberries from California, North Carolina and Virginia, bananas and lemons.

Peaches, pears, limes and best quality apples are fairly expensive.

had been ousted because he did not back the coup from the start. Lee, commanding on the critical armistice border with North Korea, at first took a neutral stand toward the coup and only came out in support of it early today.

Deposed Premier Chang accepted full "moral and political responsibility" for the two-day crisis in which American officials in Korea unsuccessfully backed his government.

Coming out of hiding to capitulate, he made a plea for the closing of ranks and international support of the new regime.

"There must be no more bloodshed," he told newsmen after resigning. "We must strengthen our anti-Communist stand and we must seek international support." As his last act he issued a retroactive proclamation of martial law, confirming a similar order issued by Gen. Chang Tuesday shortly after his forces took over.

Dear Helen: I read your column every day but, before reading the answer I think out my own and usually find I agree with you. Recently, however, I disagreed all the way. It was the column containing the letter from a woman who was expecting her third child and discovered that her husband was seeing a girl whom he had known since childhood.

You advised her to "lay down the law." I do not see anything wrong in this woman's husband having lunch or coffee-breaks with a childhood friend. She was probably more like a sister than a sweetheart.

I don't think the wife has a right to spoil a friendship which has lasted so long. She ought to invite this girl to dinner and make friends with her. Just because she is pregnant is no reason for her to stand on her rights. Since the husband meets the girl in public, I don't think he should be ashamed of himself, do you? —A FAITHFUL READER

Dear Faithful Reader: The matter must have been on his conscience else he would have been franker about it. Certainly there is nothing wrong in a casual encounter but for the husband to make a practice of meeting the girl when his wife is home pregnant, does show a lack of sensitivity at least. The wife, at a time like this, needs to feel that she comes first.

Would Spread Out Hospital Units

LITTLE ROCK (AP) —Future units of the State Hospital should be located at a number of points over Arkansas to allow many patients to live at home and retain family ties, Dr. Granville Jones, hospital superintendent said Wednesday. He also suggested that small psychiatric units be operated in conjunction with some existing community hospitals, and added that such a program might be outlined to the 1963 Arkansas Legislature.

U.S. Charge d'Affaires Marshall Green and Gen. Carter Magruder, American commander of U.N. forces in South Korea, issued strong statements criticizing the uprising and calling on the military to return Premier Chang to power.

But Magruder ordered the 50,000 American troops in Korea to stay out of the local political upheaval, and the rebels, assured that they would not have to contend with American force, went ahead.

Cotton Acreage Bill Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Senate Wednesday passed and sent to President Kennedy a bill to allow the relocation of cotton acreage from flooded fields after Sen. J. William Fulbright said passage "will keep many farmers from going broke." Effect of the bill is to permit farmers whose lands are unplantable because of rains and floods to move their cotton acreage allotments to other farms in the same or an adjoining county. The House previously passed the bill, introduced by Rep. E.C. Gathings, D-Ark.

Malvern Is Next

MEMPHIS (AP) — Malvern, Ark., will be the next extended stop for 61-year-old William Wingenstein, who peddled into Memphis Tuesday as he continued his bicycle journey from Morristown, Tenn., to Las Vegas, Nev., for the Optimist Club's international convention. He leaves Friday for Malvern, where his son, Robert Wingenstein, lives.

Dodgers Get Braves' Ace on a Walk

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers once more beat Warren Spahn, Milwaukee's superb southpaw, as they defeated the Braves Wednesday night on a bases-loaded walk in the 11th inning. That left the Dodgers in a virtual second place tie with Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, all three games behind San Francisco in the National League race.

The Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-3 with two ninth-inning runs, Pittsburgh beat St. Louis 4-3 and Cincinnati dropped Philadelphia 2-1.

In the American League, Detroit barged five games ahead with a 9-1 victory at Baltimore after Washington defeated second-place New York 8-7. Cleveland beat Boston 1-0.

Spahn (4-3), who hasn't beaten the Dodgers in their own park in 13 years, walked four, struck out seven and allowed nine hits. He had them shut out on five hits until Norm Sherry, playing his first game since April 29 because of injury, hit a home run leading off the seventh inning.

The Dodgers didn't get another hit until the 11th, but it was a leadoff triple by Frank Howard and chased Spahn. Moe Drabowsky relieved and intentionally walked two men, loading the bases. Then Selh Morched came on for the Braves, and after striking out pinch hitter Bob Aspromonte, he walked pinch hitter Bob Lillis on a 3-2 pitch, forcing in the tie-breaking run.

The Giants, out-hit 13-5, put away their eighth one-run decision among their 20 victories in the same fashion as the Dodgers — when losing reliever Don Elston (5-2) of the Cubs walked pinch hitter Jim Marshall with the bases full.

Smoky Burgess drove in three of the Pirates' runs, bringing home the clincher with a two-run double in the fifth off Ernie Broglio of the Cards. Wilmer Mizell (3-1) won it.

The Reds had just three hits, all off John Buzhardt (0-4), but paired two of them with a walk and Vada Pinson's sacrifice fly for both runs in the third inning. Frank Robinson's double brought in the deciding run. Bob Purkey (4-1) won it.

Tigers Sweep Series With Baltimore

American League Sports
By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unbeaten right-hander Phil Regan won his fourth with a six-hit Wednesday night as the Detroit Tigers completed a three-game sweep at Baltimore with a 9-1 victory. That gave Detroit a five-game huge, largest of the season, in the American League after Washington knocked off second-place New York 8-7.

Cleveland defeated Boston 1-0 in the only other AL game scheduled.

In the National League, San Francisco stayed three games ahead by beating the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in the ninth inning. Second-place Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 4-3, Cincinnati clipped Philadelphia 2-1 and the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Milwaukee 2-1 in 11 innings.

Regan, who was 0-4 as a rookie in 17 games last season, walked just one man and struck out three. He lost a shutout in the fourth inning, when Brooks Robinson hammered a home run for a 16-game hitting streak.

Ratterman Granted Trial Separately

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—George Ratterman, reform candidate for sheriff, and two other defendants today were granted separate trials in connection with Ratterman's arrest in a hotel room with a woman.

Police Court Judge Joseph Rolf directed that Juanita Jean Hodges, charged with prostitution, be tried first. This move was requested by the prosecution which said the charge against the dancer, whose stage name is April Flowers, was more serious than the others.

Ratterman is charged with breach of peace, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. Tito Carinci, manager of the Glenn Hotel, is charged with breach of peace.

The Tigers clubbed the Orioles to their fifth straight defeat with 15 hits, two by Al Kaline, who had a triple and a double and drove in three runs. Kaline's triple broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth against loser Jack Fisher (1-4).

Washington built an 8-1 lead against the Yankees with Dale Long's two-run double supplying the final cushion in the seventh inning. Starter Art Dillmar (2-2) was the loser. Left-hander Pete Burnside (1-2) won his first with relief help.

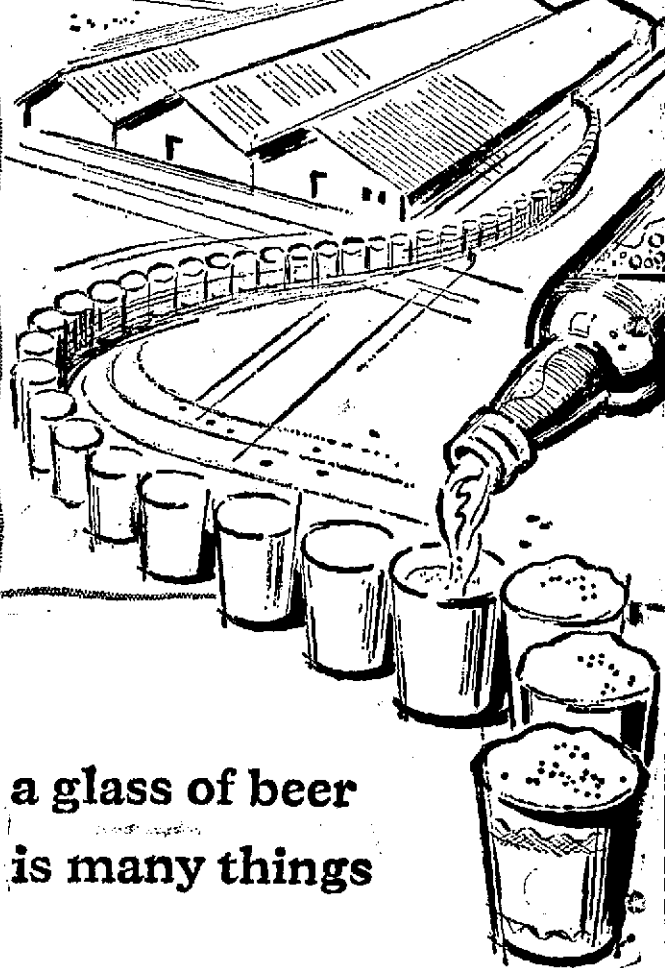

A pair of right-handers, Bobby Locke and Barry Latman, combined for a six-hit shutout for the Indians at Boston. Latman locked it up with 21-3 innings of hitless relief when Locke (1-0) gave way because of arm trouble in the seventh.

LET'S TALK ARKANSAS.

however, beer is served in paper cups, too... among Arkansas' rapidly expanding industries are paper cup and container plants. These plants, in manufacturing items for the brewing industry, use pulpwood from Arkansas forests.

In Arkansas, beer means much more than the light refreshment it is. It provides direct or indirect employment for many thousands of our citizens, and their wages and salaries add tremendously to the economy of Arkansas. Add the many thousands of tax dollars paid the state each year, and you begin to see how much the brewing industry means to our state—just one more reason why beer means better living for Arkansas.

Disaster Area Covers 42 Counties

WASHINGTON — Forty-two tornado and flood-damaged Arkansas counties will be declared a major disaster area by President Kennedy today, and the chief executive will authorize the use of $600,000 from his emergency fund to help rebuild and repair public facilities.

The White House notified members of the Arkansas Congressional delegation of the pending action Tuesday.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus had asked the disaster designation for the counties, which suffered an estimated $50 million damage as a result of the May 6-7 storms and flood.

Faubus asked Kennedy to set aside a minimum of $1.5 million for repairs to public property, including roads and bridges.

Owners of private property are eligible for long-term, low interest loans by the government.

Counties to be included in the disaster designation are:

Baxter, Benton, Boone, Carroll, Chicot, Clark, Clay, Cleburn, Conway, Craighead, Drew, Faulkner, Fulton, Garland, Greene, Howard, Independence, Izard, Jackson, Johnson, Lawrence, Logan, Madison, Marion, Mississippi, Montgomery, Newton, Perry, Phillips, Pike, Polk, Pope, Randolph, Scott, Sevier, Sharp, Stone, Van Buren, Washington, White and Woodruff.

Faubus met Tuesday with officials of the Office of Civil Defense Mobilization to discuss the Arkansas damage.

OCDD Director Frank B. Ellis told Faubus that President Kennedy had expressed a personal interest in the state's trouble.

"I'm sure he wants to give it his personal attention," Ellis said.

When he returned to Washington today, Ellis said, he expected to find complete preliminary damage reports on his desk. Machinery for obtaining federal aid funds can be started as soon as he gets the damage reports, he added.

Korean Talks With Former Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kwak Sang Hoon, speaker of the South Korean House of Representatives, talked for an hour today with Asst. Secretary of State Walter P. McCaughy, a former ambassador to Korea.

Kwak asked for the conference on an urgent basis, but when leaving the State Department told reporters that his call was to explain to McCaughy that "the situation in Korea compelled me to discontinue my visit."

The Korean speaker arrived here last Saturday and had planned a visit of several weeks in this country. He said he will return to South Korea when he can get air travel reservations.

Kwak declined to comment on

Get Things Spinning With A Platter Party

It's one for the records—the party Beth Hunt of Pillsbury's Junior Home Service Center is sharing with other stereo enthusiasts. On the player, a selection of musical favorites; on the table a selection of platter pies, perfect for the occasion.

To do likewise, gather up a few of your friends, set out records for listening, group singing, or dancing, and follow these easy refreshment directions:

Start with an oven preheated to 450°. Pillsbury Golden Pie Crust Mix or Sticks—prepared according to package directions, and a 14" pizza pan (you can make your own by cutting a 15" circle of heavy duty aluminum foil and folding up the edge 1" all around to form a standing rim). Form dough into ball. Flatten to 1/2" thickness; smooth edges. Roll out on floured surface to a circle 1" larger than 14" pizza pan. Fit loosely into pan; trim pastry at top edge. Prick generously with fork. Bake 8 to 10 minutes until golden brown. Cool.

From remaining pastry, cut a "record label," using a saucer as a cutting guide. Prick generously with a fork. Cut a small "spindle" hole in the center. Place on a cookie sheet and bake at 450° for 8 to 10 minutes.

Take your pick of fillings:

FHA Sets Up Disaster Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Farmers Home Administration today notified Arkansas members of Congress it has declared a group of Arkansas counties disaster areas.

The action makes farmers in the counties whose properties were damaged by recent wind storms and floods eligible for loans to repair their buildings and restore damaged and lost property.

The counties include Conway, Pope, Randolph, Baxter, Carroll, Newton and Van Buren.

Farmers seeking such loans were advised by the FHA to contact their county Farmers Home Administration agent.

General reaction in this capital was one of caution.

Message on World Affairs Considered

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is considering addressing Congress or sending it a message on the state of domestic and world affairs.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told reporters the subject of such a communication came up at today's White House meeting of party leaders with the President.

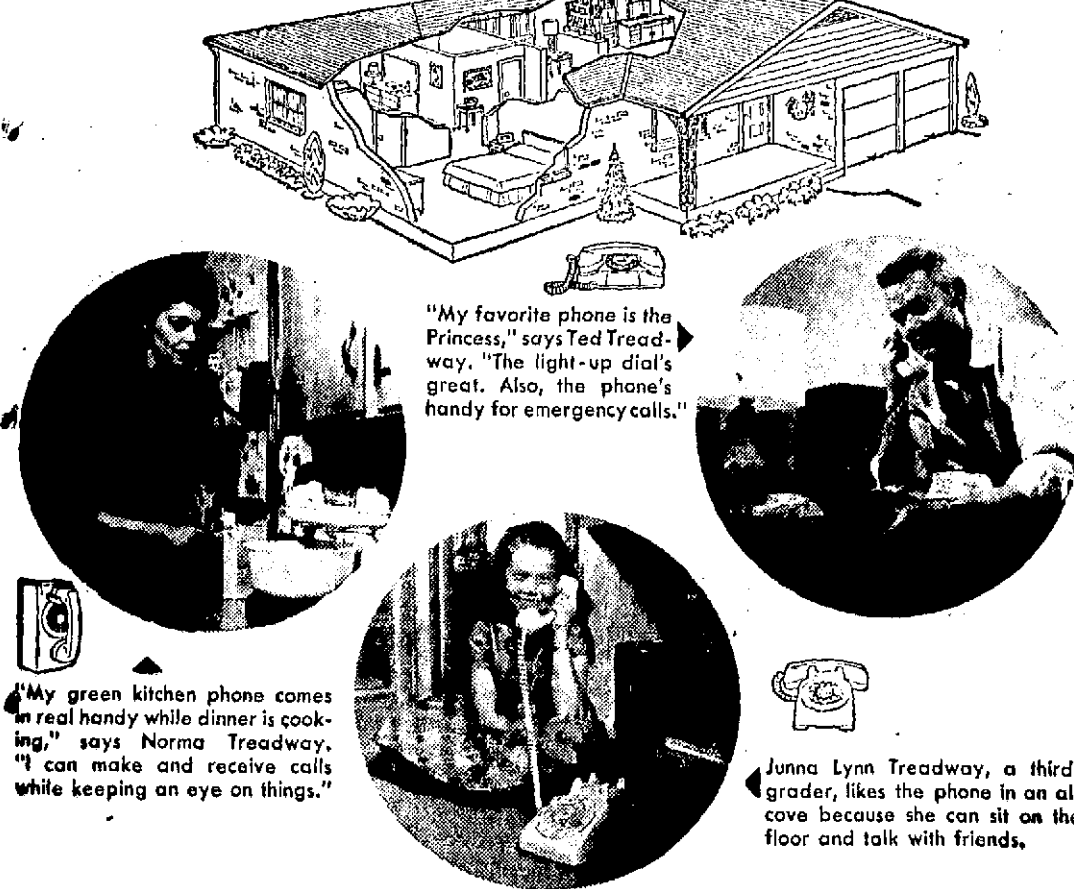

If either a speech or a message is decided upon, Mansfield said it is the understanding it would be before Kennedy leaves for Paris to confer with French President Charles de Gaulle.

Mansfield said there was no detailed discussion of the subjects Kennedy could be expected to cover. But the senator said he assumes the President would have in mind alerting the people to the problems that confront the nation at home and abroad.

Kennedy told the leaders that his foreign aid message would not be ready this week.

How working couple saves time and steps, gets more done with extension phones

By DON DAVIS, Telephone News Writer

What can extension telephones do for you?

Perhaps you can get some ideas from Ted and Norma Treadway. A working couple, they both take part in a large number of outside activities.

They have three colorful extension phones in their five-room home. These phones save them time and effort and give them more privacy. And the Treadways' bedroom phone gives them a comfortable feeling of security at night.

Why don't you see what extension phones can do for you? Just call the telephone business office or ask any telephone serviceman. Cost is low.

Ask about new Bell Chime. It announces your calls with a pleasant musical tone.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Macbeth, William Shakespeare's tragic play, won five Emmys Tuesday night and stole the 13th annual TV awards show.

But there were other moments of low comedy and high drama: Barbara Stanwyck, who has lost her sponsor, won her first TV award, and—in the excitement—tore her dress. Bob Hope, nominated for the first time, suffered a stunning disappointment—but bore up manfully.

Macbeth won for best direction—George Schaefer; best actor—Maurice Evans; best actress—Judith Anderson; outstanding drama; and program of the year.

Miss Stanwyck, nominated for four movie Oscars but never a winner, won on her first try in television.

As her name was called for best actress in a series, her beige dress caught on her coat.

She finally tossed away her coat and walked up to the podium with a torn dress. There she thanked everybody connected with her show.

Later she confided to a newsman: "I wanted to say I was the first Emmy winner to ever have her show dropped."

Her anthology series has not been renewed for next year.

Raymond Burr, the defense attorney who never loses a case on the Perry Mason TV show, was named best actor in a series.

Fred Astaire, who has nearly as many Emmys as the television academy, won two more to make a total of 11 in his collection.

The veteran dancer seemed embarrassed to win again for outstanding performance in a variety show and outstanding variety program.

In other awards, the NBC news team of Chet Huntley and David Brinkley beat out President Kennedy's news conferences for best news program.

The President and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, however, did get a special Emmy for "the great debates." Neither showed to accept the award.

Bob Hope suffered what was probably the biggest disappointment of the night.

Nixon-Backer to Entertain JFK

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Jerry Lewis, who actively supported former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the 1960 presidential campaign, will entertain at President Kennedy's birthday party May 27.

Lewis said he got a personal invitation from the White House Tuesday and accepted immediately.

"He's President for all of us," said Lewis, a Republican.

The $100-a-plate affair, sponsored by the Democratic National Committee, will be held at the Kennedy in Washington. President Kennedy will address the gathering.

time in his 25 years of stardom on talent alone, lost out in the humor category to Jack Benny, who has won before.

Benny, a pullbearer at Gary Cooper's funeral Tuesday, didn't show up to accept his award. It was accepted by Irving Fein, executive producer of the Benny show.

Hope quipped that he should move from the San Fernando Valley to Beverly Hills—where all the votes are concentrated.

Challenge to Pulaski Jury Panel

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A new challenge to selection of Pulaski Circuit Court juries came Tuesday when Negro attorney Thad D. Williams asked Judge J. Mitchell Cockrill to quash a jury panel in the court's 3rd division, which hears civil suits, on ground of racial discrimination.

Williams, attorney for a Negro couple who has filed a $23,450 personal injury lawsuit against a North Little Rock bank, asked Cockrill to have a new jury panel selected without regard to race or color.

Jury trials of all Negroes in the court's criminal division are being delayed pending an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court of a ruling concerning alleged racial discrimination in the selection of jurors.

The 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the 1956 conviction of Luther Bailey, a Negro sentenced to die for the rape of a white woman. The appellate court held that, among other things, the lack of Negroes on the jury panels in the court's civil divisions contributed to evidence of a pattern of discrimination in jury selections.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Thorp Thomas said his appeal of the ruling should reach the U.S. Supreme Court late this week or early next week.

Cockrill took no immediate action on Williams' motion, which charged that for more than 20 years jury commissioners have purposely, intentionally and deliberately excluded Negroes from jury service in the civil divisions.

The suit filed by the Rev. and Mrs. Morris Brunson against the American National Bank is scheduled for trial next Monday. It maintains that Mrs. Brunson slipped and fell May 29, 1960, because of too much wax on the bank floor.

Mrs. Brunson, the suit charged, suffered a "severe shock to her nervous system" as a result of the fall and was unable to continue her work.

Brunson is pastor of a North Little Rock Negro church.

Portugal is slightly smaller than Indiana, but nine million people live in Portugal and four million in Indiana.

JFK Seeking Support of Canadians

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

OTTAWA (AP)—An important factor in President Kennedy's Ottawa visit may be his eagerness to enlist Canada in the Organization of American States and thus gain its moral—and perhaps financial—support for the U. S. administration's attack on the vast political and economic problems of Latin America.

The President's remarks on his arrival carried a hint of this. Though he spoke of the possibility of future differences between Canada and the United States. He stressed the need for the two North American neighbors to work together for "a hemisphere of freedom and hope."

In effect, the President would be asking the Canadians to declare themselves part of the hemisphere they occupy. This would mean closing ranks to meet problems engendered by the Cuban regime's adherence to Soviet philosophy and by what is considered an urgent need to protect other Latin American governments from Communist-Castroist pressures.

Kennedy's visit is being viewed in Ottawa as something far more important than a routine gesture of good will to an old friend and neighbor.

The Ottawa Journal carried a front-page cartoon Tuesday night depicting Kennedy dressed as a Boy Scout, asking money from a householder resembling Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker. The cartoon probably hit the nail on the head.

There is little doubt that the President wants the Canadians to dig deeper in their pockets to contribute more to the program of helping underdeveloped nations in general.

Canada already participates in the Colombo program of grants and technical assistance to Asian countries. The Canadians have offered to contribute to the new program of aid to India, and Kennedy probably wants Ottawa to raise the ante considerably.

But Kennedy's basic concern on this visit seems with Latin America and the OAS. Canada as a member of the OAS could be helpful to U. S. policy. And there is a growing conviction in some Canadian quarters that OAS membership could benefit Canada, too.

Hackett Waterworks

HACKETT, Ark. (AP)—Residents of Hackett voted 98-0 in favor of a $10,000 waterworks bond issue Tuesday, with the issue to be financed by a tax increase of about three mills. Mayor Jess Chapell said the money would be added to a $42,000 federal loan for use in developing a water distribution system for the community, which is in Sebastian County.

Landmark Sold at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—The 100-bed Jefferson Hotel, a Pine Bluff landmark, has been sold for about $100,000 to the recently formed Carper Corp. of Little Rock.

At Little Rock, attorney John T. Haskins, agent for the corporation, refused to identify his clients except to say they were California residents.

He said he was acting under their orders.

He said three Little Rock residents listed on the corporation's charter permitted use of their names as an accommodation to him.

The approximate price was announced here by Walter Trulock Jr., who represented the sellers, J. W. Hill and the latter's wife and son.

The Hills had owned the hotel, built shortly after the turn of the century, since 1935.

Dope Ring Is Arrested in New York

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Federal narcotics agents arrested 12 men in New York today in an international dope smuggling ring, Westchester Dist. Atty. Robert Trainor said. Warrants were issued for four other men now serving prison terms on narcotics convictions.

Trainor said the group was accused of conspiracy in smuggling 50 million dollars worth of heroin into the United States in the last year.

Trainor and Westchester Sheriff John E. Hoy took part in the arrest of two men in a smuggling roundup which resulted from the case in Westchester County last October.

In the latest case, Trainor said, the 16 utilized innocent Italian immigrants in having the heroin brought into the United States from Italy.

Over the past year, he said, they had brought some 200 pounds of heroin into the country in packages. None of the immigrants was aware they contained heroin, Trainor said.

The district attorney identified Vincent Mauro of Manhattan and Frank Caruso of Brooklyn as the top men of the group arrested.

Motion for Trial

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A motion to require trial of a civil suit in an alleged beating case was filed with the Arkansas Supreme Court Tuesday. Otto J. Belker of Fort Smith seeks $10,000 damages on behalf of his son, Otto, whom he claims was hospitalized as a result of injuries suffered Aug. 26, 1960, in an alleged beating by two other Fort Smith youths. Circuit Judge Paul Wolfe dismissed the suit after upholding a demurrer by one of the defendants.

Birthday Special For A Man—Gold Coin Cake And Coffee

Maybe you can't grow a money tree for your favorite man's birthday, but you can do the next best thing. You can wish him a year of prosperity with luscious Gold Coin Cake. Of course, we have to admit the coins aren't negotiable, but there is delicious chocolate under those gold wraps. And under the coins is a birthday cake made of rich pound cake, always popular with a man. Spicy Cinnamon-Coffee Frosting fills the cake layers and covers the outside.

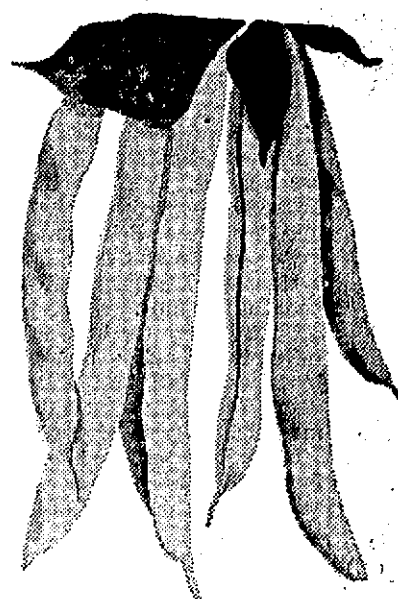

To go along with Gold Coin Cake, nothing tastes better than hot, fresh coffee. Brew a big potful just before you bring on the cake. Then pour the coffee and dim the lights. The candle-lit cake is ready to take the spotlight—and this is one birthday present the whole family is going to enjoy.

Gold Coin Cake

Prepare 1 package pound cake mix according to package directions. Bake in 2 lightly greased and floured 8-inch layer cake pans. When cool, split each layer crosswise, making 4 layers. Fill and frost with Cinnamon-Coffee Frosting. Decorate with foil-covered chocolate candy "gold pieces," and candles.

Cinnamon-Coffee Frosting
1 cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Few grains salt
1 tablespoon instant coffee
2 teaspoons vanilla
6 cups sifted confectioners' 10X sugar
½ cup milk (about)
Cream butter or margarine until consistency of mayonnaise. Blend in cinnamon, salt, coffee and vanilla. Add sugar alternately with milk while beating until fluffy and easy to spread. Makes enough to fill and frost a 4-layer 8 or 9-inch layer cake.

CHAPTER XXVIII

Sandy and Dixie McQueen were to join them when a voice behind me said, "Jim."

I turned. Cecil stood there. I said, "I thought you were still with the sergeant."

"He didn't waste much time with the hired help," Cecil's voice held a trace of bitterness. "He's through with Florine and Doris, too."

"Who's with him now?"

"Stockmaster—I mean Mr. Stockmaster."

"Call him anything you like," I said. "He's a slob to me." I squinted at Cecil. "What's bugging you, pal?"

"That cop's attitude, I guess. Forget it. He gave me a message—he wants to see you as soon as he's finished with the slob. We had a time getting him to the study."

"Who's who?"

"The other cop, the young one. He helped me with Stockmaster. To make it worse, that Darmody showed up and insisted upon staying, but the sergeant kicked him out. Where's Mac?"

"Upstairs with his mother."

"A joyous reunion, no doubt," Cecil said.

From down the hall there came the sound of muffled voices. They grew louder and we heard a dull thud. Cecil looked a question at me, and then we both hurried down the hall to the study door. We stood there, listening. Inside someone shouted incoherently. Then came a crash and a kind of scuffling sound. I opened the door and entered, with Cecil right behind me. The scene inside stopped us both.

The table was overturned and papers were scattered on the floor. Behind the overturned table Sergeant Griffiths and the young corporal were struggling with Julius Stockmaster, each grasping one of the novelist's arms. Griffiths, I saw, was trying to force Stockmaster's right arm up and back in a hamperlock. All three were panting and Stockmaster's face was diffused with rage and exertion. He struggled violently, chin on his chest, teeth bared and clenched, his black bushy hair in wild disarray.

"Need some help, Sergeant?" I asked.

Griffiths glared at me over Stockmaster's head. Before he could answer, Stockmaster jerked free of the two men.

"Stop him!" Griffiths cried as he started around the table. He hit an upturned leg and sprawled forward against Corporal Leeds and they both fell in an awkward tangle of arms and legs. Stockmaster was now like a charging fullback. I dove for him, remembering my college football days, thinking that I could clip him down with an illegal body block from behind. But he was moving too fast and I ended up on the floor with an aching shoulder. I looked up. Only Cecil stood between Stockmaster and the door and for an instant I was afraid he wasn't going to do anything about it. He just stood there, not moving, his eyes alert. Then he stepped back out of Stockmaster's way.

Cecil cocked a fist and clipped the novelist neatly and solidly behind the left ear. The one punch was enough. Stockmaster hit the floor, halfway through the open door, and was still. Cecil rubbed his knuckles and gave me an uncertain grin. I said, "Nice punch," and held my bruised shoulder.

"Lucky," Cecil said.

Sergeant Griffiths and Corporal Leeds, both still panting heavily, were now on their feet and moving to the unconscious Stockmaster. They knelt down together, turned the novelist over on his back and we all saw the closed eyes and the peaceful expression.

"The man's crazy," Griffiths muttered.

"Just drunk and bereaved," I said.

Griffiths stood erect and faced

Shots Turned Out to Be Very Real

MEMPHIS (AP)—A man was shot and killed in his company's plant Monday while employees went about their work, thinking it was all a joke.

William E. Dismuke was shot twice with a pistol and one or more times with a shotgun at the Arkansas-Best Motor Freight Co., here.

Joe Rose, 41, admitted firing the fatal shots, police said.

Dismuke was district sales manager for the company. Rose was a salesman under Dismuke's supervision. Rose claimed Dismuke was trying to prevent him from getting a promotion.

An employee told police he heard shouting in Dismuke's office, but "thought Joe and Bill were just joking around."

Then, the employee said, "I heard Dismuke say, 'Oh, no, Joe No.' And then two shots followed." Dismuke told a clerk to call the police as Rose fled from the office the employee said.

Then Rose came back into the plant, and, police say, fired a 20-gauge shotgun at Dismuke. The sales manager fell dead.

Rose told Capt. B. E. Gilligan, chief of the police department's homicide division, that Dismuke "was out to frame me because he didn't want me to get a promotion."

Seven Persons Hurt in State

HALSTEAD Kan. (AP)—Seven persons were injured, none seriously, today in an explosion that shattered a new building occupied only Monday by the Halstead bank.

Admitted to a Halstead hospital were C. A. Williams, bank president, who suffered bruises and shock, and Robert Ross, a construction company employee, who received laceration.

The blast blew out part of a wall and the roof collapsed.

me. Corporal Leeds stood, too, tilted the overturned table to its legs and began to pick up papers from the floor. Griffiths said, "He was pretty groggy when I began to question him. At first he pretended that he could not speak or hear—until I mentioned Miss Reynolds' death. Even then he didn't seem to comprehend, or pretended not to. I thought that possibly he had been too dazed to understand when you talked to him in the cottage. So I told him bluntly that Miss Reynolds had been shot dead. He went, well, berserk. He jumped up, pushed over the table and began to shout and curse at me. He was like an insane person."

"Brother," Corporal Leeds said, sorting papers on the table. "He jabbered so fast I couldn't get it all." He picked up the stenographer's notebook. "Here's the last I got: 'She loved me. The Soda Pop Kid had no right.' Then he went on the rampage."

Griffiths motioned to Corporal Leeds. "Get him out of here. I'll talk to him later." He turned to me. "You stay, Bennett."

Wants State Paid for Road Damage

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Highway Department has asked Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to take steps to insure that Arkansas will be reimbursed for road damage resulting from construction of Titan missile bases in the Little Rock area.

Highway Director F. R. Oliver estimated today that 300 miles of road will be heavily damaged before the 18 missile launching sites are completed.

Oliver asked Fulbright in a letter to see that Army Engineers and the Bureau of Public Roads make surveys toward getting a federal appropriation for repairs. "The Army is trying to wash its hands of this matter," Oliver said. "It wants to put settlement of road damage between the contractor and the state."

Oliver said the Highway Department would never let a private contractor wreak such damage on the roads if he were not working on a national defense project.

Oliver said it would cost from $25,000 to $30,000 per mile to rebuild 17 miles of Highway 36 west of Searcy, which he said "will be shot long before this project is finished."

Not all of the 300 miles involved is paved and replacement costs in some areas would be relatively small.

The Highway Department has been watching the missile project closely since it learned that some loads would run as high as 100,000 pounds—nearly twice the maximum load permitted by the state even with a special permit.

"Those real heavy loads are construction steel," Oliver said. "And none of it has moved yet. No telling what will happen when the heavy loads start to move."

He added, "We've agreed that

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Going Around But Getting Nowhere

Like the squirrel, teen-age boys who are overweight are going around in circles and getting nowhere. Unlike the squirrel, they are a vicious circle. Often, these teenagers eat less food than boys of normal weight. Yet, to avoid gaining more weight, they have to eat still less. The reason? They do not participate as wholeheartedly in the activities of living. And the less these overweight boys eat, the more inactive they become.

This vicious circle was nailed down by two New England scientists, Jean Mayer and Patricia Stefank, when they studied teen-age boys. They learned it was how hard these teenagers worked at an activity, rather than time alone, that was the critical factor in weight control. In contrast to the overweight, teenagers of normal weight participated wholeheartedly in both camp and school activities.

Here was the way to break the vicious circle that the scientists were looking for. When some of the overweight teenagers were persuaded to step up their activities, weight problems disappeared, even though these teenagers were eating more food.

This research holds out hope for those who are cutting the amount of food they eat to the bone and still not achieving the weight loss they crave. Here is the way out this research provides: To be able to eat food without fear, put your heart into physical activities that you enjoy.

No one deserves to have hunger as a constant companion. Eating is too much fun for such sacrifice. To make sure food is fun and full of the nutrients you need each day, include in your meals: Meat or an alternate, milk or cheese, fruits or vegetables enriched or whole grain bread and cereal.

Democracy Fails in Some Places

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It doesn't seem that because democracy works here it will elsewhere. In many places it hasn't. So the United States has to sell something besides democracy in a lot of places to keep them out of communism.

It has to sell a chance for a good life.

The Associated Press from Tokyo reports that the army revolt which Tuesday overthrew the South Korean government had strong allies in grinding poverty and social ills.

It was in the pattern of army revolts which abolished or changed parliamentary governments in the Congo, Laos, Egypt, Sudan, Turkey, Pakistan, Burma, Iraq and Thailand.

Everywhere around the world an American-aided government is in danger of overthrow by its army or communism, unless it gives the people assurance it is working for their welfare.

What is the image of the enormously rich and powerful American going to mean to a poverty-stricken peasant somewhere if a Russian tells him:

"It took the United States 200 years to get where it is. And in 200 years maybe your country can be just as rich. But it only took Russia 40 years to become the giant it is."

"You're 35. Your life expectancy under present conditions is only 40. You have only five years left.

"Are you willing to wait 200 years in the hope your country will become another America or do you want a better life than this in a hurry for yourself and your family under communism?"

If an American then tells the peasant about the blessings of democracy, it won't mean much if the peasant never really knew democracy.

Thus this country's problem, with its foreign aid, is to get the peasant's government to put into effect reforms and programs which will give this poverty-stricken man reason to think he can have a better life without communism.

The Communists began early with their promises. Right after the war in Southern Italy, before the first post-war elections, Communists went from door to door promising them land of their own. That one the Communists lost.

President Kennedy himself, in his speech last summer accepting the Democratic nomination, spoke of the "one-third of the world" that is "rocked by pangs of poverty, hunger and envy."

In a general way he expressed his awareness of the remedy called for when, in his State of the Union message in January, he acknowledged the huge task:

"Our role is essential and unavoidable in the construction of a sound expanding economy for the entire non-Communist world, helping other nations to build the strength to meet their own aspirations, to surmount their own dangers."

"The problems in achieving this

Thinks U.S. Will Win in the End

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—The United States is losing the ideological struggle with communism in Asia, but this country will win out in the end, says Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court.

"With all the laws and ideals of freedom we have on our side, I do not see how we can possibly lose the ideological contest," Douglas said Tuesday night in a speech at Allegheny College.

Goal are towering and unprecedented.

So far he has not attempted to talk to the American public on this problem at length—and with whatever solutions he may have in mind — except through news conferences and messages to Congress.

His message on foreign aid won't go to Congress for about another 10 days. There he may open up his thinking, with concrete proposals, in a way that hasn't been revealed yet.

The Securities and Exchange

Protecting Stock Buyer a Headache

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Protecting the stock buyer can be a headache—especially today when so many novices or part-time investors try to make a big killing fast.

Many are victims of their own bad judgment, although brokers say they do their best with advice and information. But many of their customers, and those of the over-the-counter market, are bent today on speculating, in the worst sense of that term.

Some are crippled by the sharp practices of manipulators, although both the government and the stock exchanges have taken steps since the market scandals of the 1920s and 1930s to police the market.

The Securities and Exchange

Commission, government watchdog of the offering and sale of stocks, is launching an investigation of the second largest exchange, the American in New York, to see if tighter policing is needed.

It grows out of an SEC order for expulsion of two American Exchange members, Jerry and Gerald Re, after charges of long and widespread price rigging and illegal stock sales.

All of the nation's 13 exchanges have rules governing member activities and requirements that stocks must reach before being listed.

Much reliance is placed on public information. Companies must report their condition. Broker members must comply with exchange rules and their books are open to inspection. Spot checks are taken and publicized.

The New York Stock Exchange a month ago raised the standards for original listing of common stocks still higher. The American Exchange tightened up its rules on member activities after the

SEC investigation of the now expelled members.

Chief target of the upcoming SEC probe will be that breed of brokers known as specialists, which the Re father and son were. These brokers do business on the floor of an exchange for other brokers.

The specialists handle a definite and limited number of stocks. The exchanges charge them with maintaining an orderly market—that is, with seeing that buyers and sellers can get together and that price fluctuations don't get out of hand either in big jumps or drops or in rapidity of the swings.

In some of the surging markets of recent weeks, buying and selling of many stocks, especially the new and untried ones, has been anything but orderly at times. When it gets badly out of hand and the specialists can't police their charges, exchange officials halt trading in the stock until the gyrations are controlled or the causes for mysterious swings run down.

Bootsie Is Mom to 5 Rabbits

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Bootsie is a 7-year-old cocker spaniel who is expecting a family of her own in about a week.

For five days she's been playing mother to five little rabbits which apparently took to Bootsie while she was lying outdoors.

"The awful part is that poor Bootsie thinks they're hers," explained her owner, Mrs. Stanley Allen.

"She treats them so tenderly. It's natural in a way, I suppose," Bootsie was raised with a cat.

Recent hauls included the carcass of a giraffe and a grand piano.

Women Elected to Congress

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (AP)—Louise Goff Reece, schooled in Republican politics all her life, has been elected in a landslide to the congressional seat held by her late husband 34 years.

Mrs. Reece, widow of the former Republican national chairman B. Carroll Reece, easily defeated two opponents in Tuesday's special election called in the First District of Upper East Tennessee after Reece's death March 19. The district has not sent a Democrat to Congress since 1878.

Mrs. Reece, 62, who was making her first political race, is the daughter of the late Sen. Guy Goff and the granddaughter of the late Sen. Nathan Goff, both West Virginia Republicans. She married Reece in 1923.

She will fill his unexpired term until January, 1963.

Springtime Treat For Dieters

When you or others in your family are on a low-calorie diet, serve a dessert that everyone can enjoy without over-indulging.

Make use of special low-calorie foods: Sucaryl-sweetened canned fruits and fruit juices, nonfat dry milk, unflavored gelatin, calorie-free sweeteners.

The following recipe for Apricot Whip uses the non-calorie sweetener, Sucaryl, rather than sugar for sweetening. As a result, calories are slashed to less than one-third the usual count. Best of all, this festive springtime dessert is so delicious, it's sure to please dieters and non-dieters alike.

Apricot Whip
1 tablespoon (or envelope) unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 12-ounce can Sucaryl-sweetened apricot nectar
2 tablespoons Sucaryl solution
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 egg whites
1/2 cup nonfat dry milk
1/2 cup ice water

Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat apricot juice; add softened gelatin, stirring to dissolve. Add Sucaryl and lemon juice; chill until mixture begins to thicken. Combine egg whites, dry milk and ice water. Beat on high speed of mixer until fluffy and thick. Fold carefully into apricot mixture. Pipe mixture into dessert dishes. Chill until serving time. Garnish as desired.

Makes 6 servings. Each serving contains 52 Calories; 5 grams protein; no fat; 7.5 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 180 Calories.

SALMONBURGERS A SUMMERTIME FAVORITE

IF YOU have never tried serving canned salmon between hamburger buns in place of ground meat, you have missed a treat. Not only are the fish cakes colorful and appetizing, but tender, moist and flavorful. Salmon is high in protein, low in calories, and a pound can will make 6 large salmonburgers.

Salmon has been nourishing human race and delighting human palates since prehistoric times. Today, thanks to modern canning methods, it is becoming known more widely than ever as a cosmopolitan food fish.

The protein in salmon is a complete protein, in the same group as meat and poultry, eggs and milk. When you serve salmon, you're serving the kind of food that your family needs every day.

And if you're counting calories, you'll be glad to know that four ounces of salmon contain only 150 calories, while four ounces of lamb chops contain 250.

Keep several cans of salmon on your shelf for salads, sandwiches and for...

TO HAVE AND TO KILL

CHAPTER XXVIII

Sandy and Dixie McQueen were to join them when a voice behind me said, "Jim."

I turned. Cecil stood there. I said, "I thought you were still with the sergeant."

"He didn't waste much time with the hired help," Cecil's voice held a trace of bitterness. "He's through with Florine and Doris, too."

"Who's with him now?" "Stockmaster—I mean Mr. Stockmaster."

"Call him anything you like," I said. "He's a slob to me." I squinted at Cecil. "What's bugging you, pal?"

"That cop's attitude, I guess. Forget it. He gave me a message—he wants to see you as soon as he's finished with the slob. We had a time getting him to the study."

"Who's he?" "The other cop, the young one. He helped me with Stockmaster. To make it worse, that Darmody showed up and insisted upon staying, but the sergeant kicked him out. Where's Mac?"

"Upstairs with his mother." "A joyous reunion, no doubt," Cecil said.

From down the hall there came the sound of muffled voices. They grew louder and we heard a dull thud. Cecil looked a question at me, and then we both hurried down the hall to the study door.

We stood there, listening. Inside someone shouted incoherently. Then came a crash and a kind of scuffling sound. I opened the door and entered, with Cecil right behind me. The scene inside stopped us both.

The table was overturned and papers were scattered on the floor. Behind the overturned table Sergeant Griffiths and the young corporal were struggling with Julius Stockmaster, each grasping one of the novelist's arms.

Griffiths, I saw, was trying to force Stockmaster's right arm up and back in a hammerlock. All three were panting and Stockmaster's face was diffused with rage and exertion. He struggled violently, chin on his chest, teeth bared and clenched, his black bushy hair in wild disarray.

"Need some help, Sergeant?" I asked. Griffiths glared at me over Stockmaster's head. Before he could answer, Stockmaster jerked free of the two men.

"Stop him!" Griffiths cried as he started around the table. He hit an upturned leg and sprawled forward against Corporal Leeds and they both fell in an awkward tangle of arms and legs. Stockmaster was now like a charging fullback. I dove for him, remembering my college football days, thinking that I could clip him down with an illegal body block from behind. But he was moving too fast and I ended up on the floor with an aching shoulder. I looked up. Only Cecil stood between Stockmaster and the door and for an instant I was afraid he wasn't going to do anything about it. He just stood there, not moving, his eyes alert. Then he stepped back out of Stockmaster's way.

Cecil cocked a fist and clipped the novelist neatly and solidly behind the left ear. The one punch was enough. Stockmaster hit the floor, halfway through the open door, and was still. Cecil rubbed his knuckles and gave me an uncertain grin. I said, "Nice punch," and held my bruised shoulder.

"Lucky," Cecil said. Sergeant Griffiths and Corporal Leeds, both still panting heavily, were now on their feet and moving to the unconscious Stockmaster. They knelt down together, turned the novelist over on his back and we all saw the closed eyes and the peaceful expression. "The man's crazy," Griffiths muttered.

"Just drunk and bereaved," I said. Griffiths stood erect and faced me. Cecil stood erect and faced me.

me. Corporal Leeds stood, too, gazed the overturned table to its legs and began to pick up papers from the floor. Griffiths said, "He was pretty groggy when I began to question him. At first he pretended that he could not speak or hear—until I mentioned Miss Reynolds' death. Even then he didn't seem to comprehend, or pretended not to. I thought that possibly he had been too dazed to understand when you talked to him in the cottage. So I told him bluntly that Miss Reynolds had been shot dead. He went, well, berserk. He jumped up, pushed over the table and began to shout and curse at me. He was like an insane person."

"Brother," Corporal Leeds said, sorting papers on the table. "He jabbered so fast I couldn't get it all." He picked up the stenographer's notebook. "Here's the last I got: 'She loved me. The Soda Pop Kid had no right.' Then he went on the rampage."

Griffiths motioned to Corporal Leeds. "Get him out of here. I'll talk to him later." He turned to me. "You stay, Bennett."

Shots Turned Out to Be Very Real

MEMPHIS (AP)—A man was shot and killed in his company's plant Monday while employees went about their work, thinking it was all a joke.

William E. Dismuke was shot twice with a pistol and one or more times with a shotgun at the Arkansas-Best Motor Freight Co., here.

Joe Rose, 41, admitted firing the fatal shots, police said.

Dismuke was district sales manager for the company. Rose was a salesman under Dismuke's supervision. Rose claimed Dismuke was trying to prevent him from getting a promotion.

An employee told police he heard shouting in Dismuke's office, but "thought Joe and Bill were just joking around."

Then, the employee said, "I heard Dismuke say, 'Oh, no, Joe No.' And then two shots followed." Dismuke told a clerk to call the police as Rose fled from the office the employee said.

Then Rose came back into the plant, and, police say, fired a 20-gauge shotgun at Dismuke. The sales manager fell dead.

Rose told Capt. B. E. Gilligan, chief of the police department's homicide division, that Dismuke "was out to frame me because he didn't want me to get a promotion."

Wants State Paid for Road Damage

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Highway Department has asked Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to take steps to insure that Arkansas will be reimbursed for road damage resulting from construction of Titan missile bases in the Little Rock area.

Highway Director F. R. Oliver estimated today that 300 miles of road will be heavily damaged before the 18 missile launching sites are completed.

Oliver asked Fulbright in a letter to see that Army Engineers and the Bureau of Public Roads make surveys toward getting a federal appropriation for repairs.

"The Army is trying to wash its hands of this matter," Oliver said. "It wants to put settlement of road damage between the contractor and the state."

Oliver said the Highway Department would never let a private contractor wreak such damage on the roads if he were not working on a national defense project.

Oliver said it would cost from $25,000 to $30,000 per mile to rebuild 17 miles of Highway 36 west of Searcy, which he said "will be shot long before this project is finished."

Not all of the 300 miles involved is paved and replacement costs in some areas would be relatively small.

The Highway Department has been watching the missile project closely since it learned that some loads would run as high as 100,000 pounds—nearly twice the maximum load permitted by the state even with a special permit.

"Those real heavy loads are construction steel," Oliver said. "And none of it has moved yet. No telling what will happen when the heavy loads start to move."

He added, "We've agreed that

HALSTEAD Kan. (AP)—Seven persons were injured, none seriously, today in an explosion that shattered a new building occupied only Monday by the Halstead bank.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee today voted unanimously to increase by a billion dollars Federal Housing Administration authority to insure home mortgages.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said the resolution carrying the increase was being handled on an emergency basis because the FHA is about out of insurance authority. A pickup in home sales is partly responsible, he said.

Sparkman said he would try to get the Senate to approve the resolution Thursday and hoped for equally prompt action in the House. FHA's present insurance authority ceiling is $37.5 billion.

The committee interrupted its work on President Kennedy's general housing bill to take up the emergency resolution.

The $4.79 billion omnibus bill would remove the dollar ceiling altogether on FHA home mortgage insurance but it is not expected to clear Congress for several weeks.

The banking group today approved the key housing programs recommended by Kennedy, indicating that the omnibus bill will be approved about as the administration submitted it.

These were the two most important new provisions in the bill which were approved: New government-insured 40-year, no-down-payment mortgages designed to help moderate income families buy homes by cutting the monthly payment.

Home improvement loans to run as high as $10,000 with a 25-year maximum repayment period. At present these are limited to $3,500 and five years.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Going Around But Getting Nowhere

Like the squirrel, teen-age boys who are overweight are going around in circles and getting nowhere. Unlike the squirrel, theirs is a vicious circle. Often, these teenagers eat less food than boys of normal weight. Yet, to avoid gaining more weight, they have to eat still less. The reason? They do not participate as wholeheartedly in the activities of living. And the less these overweight boys eat, the more inactive they become.

This vicious circle was nailed down by two New England scientists, Jean Mayer and Patricia Stefanik, when they studied teen-age boys. They learned it was how hard these teenagers worked at an activity, rather than time alone, that was the critical factor in weight control. In contrast to the overweight, teenagers of normal weight participated wholeheartedly in both camp and school activities.

Here was the way to break the vicious circle that the scientists were looking for. When some of the overweight teenagers were persuaded to step up their activities, weight problems disappeared, even though these teenagers were eating more food.

This research holds out hope for those who are cutting the amount of food they eat to the bone and still not achieving the weight loss they crave. Here is the way out this research provides: To be able to eat food without fear, put your heart into physical activities that you enjoy.

No one deserves to have hunger as a constant companion. Eating is too much fun for such sacrifice. To make sure food is fun and full of the nutrients you need each day, include in your meals: Meat or an alternate, milk or cheese, fruits or vegetables, enriched or whole grain bread and cereal.

Democracy Fails in Some Places

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It doesn't seem that because democracy works here it will elsewhere. In many places it hasn't. So the United States has to sell something besides democracy in a lot of places to keep them out of communism.

It has to sell a chance for a good life.

The Associated Press from Tokyo reports that the army revolt which Tuesday overthrew the South Korean government had strong allies in grinding poverty and social ills.

It was in the pattern of army revolts which abolished or changed parliamentary governments in the Congo, Laos, Egypt, Sudan, Turkey, Pakistan, Burma, Iraq and Thailand.

Everywhere around the world an American-aided government is in danger of overthrow by its army or communism, unless it gives the people assurance it is working for their welfare.

What is the image of the enormous rich and powerful America going to mean to a poverty-stricken peasant somewhere if a Russian tells him:

"It took the United States 200 years to get where it is. And in 200 years maybe your country can be just as rich. But it only took Russia 40 years to become the giant it is."

"You're 35. Your life expectancy under present conditions is only 40. You have only five years left."

"Are you willing to wait 200 years in the hope your country will become another America or do you want a better life than this in a hurry for yourself and your family under communism?"

If an American then tells the peasant about the blessings of democracy, it won't mean much if the peasant never really knew democracy.

Thus this country's problem, with its foreign aid, is to get the peasant's government to put into effect reforms and programs which will give this poverty-stricken man reason to think he can have a better life without communism.

The Communists began early with their promises. Right after the war in Southern Italy, before the first post-war elections, Communists went from door to door promising them land of their own. That one the Communists lost.

President Kennedy himself, in his speech last summer accepting the Democratic nomination, spoke of the "one-third of the world" that is "rocked by pangs of poverty, hunger and envy."

In a general way he expressed his awareness of the remedy called for when, in his State of the Union message in January, he acknowledged the huge task:

NEW YORK (AP)—Protecting the stock buyer can be a headache—especially today when so many novices or part-time investors yet to make a big killing fast.

Many are victims of their own bad judgment, although brokers say they do their best with advice and information. But many of their customers, and those of the over-the-counter market, are bent today on speculating, in the worst sense of that term.

Some are crippld by the sharp practices of manipulators, although both the government and the stock exchanges have taken steps since the market scandals of the 1920s and 1930s to police the market.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, government watchdog of the offering and sale of stocks, is launching an investigation of the second largest exchange, the American in New York, to see if tighter policing is needed.

It grows out of an SEC order for expulsion of two American Exchange members, Jerry and Gerald Re, after charges of long and widespread price rigging and illegal stock sales.

All of the nation's 13 exchanges have rules governing member activities and requirements that stocks must reach before being listed.

Much reliance is placed on public information. Companies must report their condition. Broker members must comply with exchange rules and their books are open to inspection. Spot checks are taken and published.

The New York Stock Exchange a month ago raised the standards for original listing of common stocks still higher. The American Exchange lightened up its rules on member activities after the

SEC investigation of the now expelled members.

Chief target of the upcoming SEC probe will be that breed of brokers known as specialists, which the Re father and son were. These brokers do business on the floor of an exchange for other brokers.

The specialists handle a definite and limited number of stocks. The exchanges charge them with maintaining an orderly market—that is, with seeing that buyers and sellers can get together and that price fluctuations don't get out of hand either in big jumps or drops or in rapidity of the swings.

In some of the surging markets of recent weeks, buying and selling of many stocks, especially the new and untried ones, has been anything but orderly at times. When it gets badly out of hand and the specialists can't police their charges, exchange officials halt trading in the stock until the gyrations are controlled or the causes for mysterious swings run down.

Bootsie Is Mom to 5 Rabbits

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Bootsie is a 7-year-old cocker spaniel who is expecting a family of her own in about a week.

For five days she's been playing mother to five little rabbits which apparently took to Bootsie while she was lying outdoors.

"The awful part is that poor Bootsie thinks they're hers," explained her owner, Mrs. Stanley Atlas.

"She treats them so tenderly. It's natural in a way, I suppose. Bootsie was raised with a cat."

Women Elected to Congress

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (AP)—Louise Goff Reece, schooled in Republican politics all her life, has been elected in a landslide to the congressional seat held by her late husband 34 years.

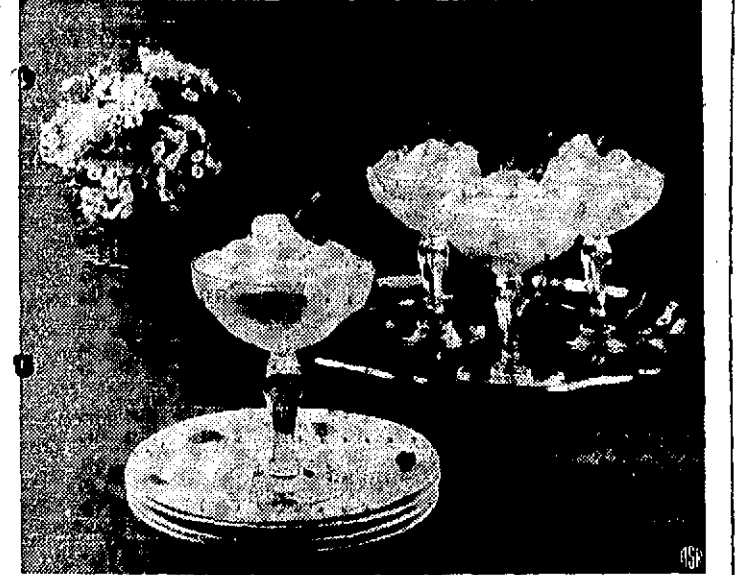

Mrs. Reece, widow of the former Republican national chairman B. Carroll Reece, easily defeated two opponents in Tuesday's special election called in the First District of Upper East Tennessee after Reece's death March 19. The district has not sent a Democrat to Congress since 1878.

Mrs. Reece, 62, who was making her first political race, is the daughter of the late Sen. Guy Goff and the granddaughter of the late Sen. Nathan Goff, both West Virginia Republicans. She married Reece in 1923.

She will fill his unexpired term until January, 1963.

There were 315 newspapers in Arkansas in 1909.

Springtime Treat For Dieters

When you or others in your family are on a low-calorie diet, serve a dessert that everyone can enjoy without over-indulging.

Make use of special low-calorie foods: Sucaryl-sweetened canned fruits and fruit juices, nonfat dry milk, unflavored gelatin, calorie-free sweeteners.

The following recipe for Apricot Whip uses the non-calorie sweetener, Sucaryl, rather than sugar for sweetening. As a result, calories are slashed to less than one-third the usual count. Best of all, this festive springtime dessert is so delicious, it's sure to please dieters and non-dieters alike.

Apricot Whip

1 tablespoon (or envelope) unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 12-ounce can Sucaryl-sweetened apricot nectar

2 tablespoons Sucaryl solution
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 egg whites
1/2 cup nonfat dry milk
1/2 cup ice water

Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat apricot juice; add softened gelatin, stirring to dissolve. Add Sucaryl and lemon juice; chill until mixture begins to thicken. Combine egg whites, dry milk and ice water. Beat on high speed of mixer until fluffy and thick. Fold carefully into apricot mixture. Pile mixture into dessert dishes. Chill until serving time. Garnish as desired.

Makes 6 servings. Each serving contains 52 Calories; 5 grams protein; no fat; 7.5 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 180 Calories.

SALMONBURGERS A SUMMERTIME FAVORITE

If YOU have never tried serving canned salmon between hamburger buns in place of ground meat, you have missed a treat. Not only are the fish cakes colorful and appetizing, but tender, moist and flavorful. Salmon is high in protein, low in calories, and a pound can will make 6 large salmonburgers.

Salmon has been nourishing the human race and delighting human palates since prehistoric times. Today, thanks to modern canning methods, it is becoming known more widely than ever as a cosmopolitan food fish.

The protein in salmon is a complete protein, in the same good group as meat and poultry, eggs and eggs. When you serve salmon, you're serving the kind of food that your family needs every day.

And if you're counting calories, you'll be glad to know that four ounces of salmon contain only 150 calories, while four ounces of lamb chops contain 250.

Keep several cans of salmon in your shelf for salads, sandwiches and...

SALMONBURGERS

1 pound can salmon
1/2 cup chopped onion

1/4 cup melted butter
1/3 cup salmon liquid
1/3 cup dry bread crumbs
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
6 round buttered buns

Drain salmon, reserving the liquid. Flake salmon. Cook onion in butter until tender. Add salmon liquid, the 1/3 cup crumbs, eggs, parsley, mustard, salt and salmon. Mix well. Shape into 6 cakes and roll in crumbs. Fry cakes in a heavy pan containing about 1/8 inch hot, but not smoking, fat, at moderate heat. When cakes are brown on one side, turn carefully to brown the other. Cook for a total of 5 to 8 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper. Place cakes in buns and serve hot with wedges of lemon. Serves 6.
